

Herbal Mixture

At our ranch we use the Power Shake and Animal Herbal Formula for rehab animals and those needing to gain weight. We also add Llama-Zyme to this mixture. Llama-Zyme is a combination of probiotics and digestive enzymes, which can help optimize the absorption of nutritional supplements for improved health and well-being.

We have also found that the Power Shake has helped balance the body and the hormonal system for females that are difficult to get pregnant or have trouble holding pregnancies. Both the Power Shake and the Animal Herbal Formula are powdered herbs from regions of Peru and we believe this is why these regional herbs combined with the Llama-Zyme are working so well.

How we give these products:

1. We mix the powders in non-chlorinated water to give orally or we sprinkle on the grain or we mix in moistened beet pulp. (Depending on each animal's personality and how easily they will take the mixture.)
2. We start out giving the mixture once a day the first week to let the body get adjusted. If we see clumpy poop, we give every other day, then we gradually start back to every day.
3. After 2 weeks of giving the mixture once a day, we increase to twice a day (observing the animal) making sure the body is adjusting to the increase.
4. We weigh the animal each week in the AM or PM. Weighing each week at the same time of day gives us consistent weight information.

Amounts that we use: (these amounts are for animals 50 to 100 lbs.) Dosage can be adjusted according to weight.

- Power Shake: 1 scoop (1 tablespoon) once a day. As the body adjusts, give 1 scoop twice a day.
- Animal Herbal Formula: 1 scoop (1 tablespoon) once a day. As the body adjusts, give 1 scoop twice a day.
- Llama-Zyme: 1/2 scoop (1/2 Tablespoon) once a day OR 1/4 scoop twice a day.

These products are safe for the youngest or oldest member of your herd. For pregnant animals, consult with your veterinarian or natural health care practitioner.
